

Your Legal Rights

WHAT ARE THE CHANCES?

Increasing numbers of studies show that drivers are paying less attention to the road than ever. The use of cell phones can be added to the list of distractions that drivers allow to divert their attention. With this in mind, a conscientious individual would prepare for the eventuality that he or she is going to become involved in a crash caused by another driver's negligence. Do you know a lawyer you could call to review your legal options in the event you are in a car crash? Would you know what to do at the scene of a crash? If not, thoroughly prepare for such an eventuality by having a lawyer on your side.

The details of any incident of personal injury are vital in the course of any legal action. Whether the injury was due to an accident or another's negligence, we will help you determine and secure your rights in these matters. If you have been injured and feel you may require legal advice and representation, call to schedule a free initial consultation. We concentrate on personal injury cases and for your convenience, we offer hospital and in home visits.

HINT: Driving while sleepy presents as much of a danger on the road as driving while drunk.
